

Opportunity for General Practitioner – Bremer Medical Centre

Bremer Medical Centre (BMC) is a modern, mixed billing, multidisciplinary practice, located on the Ipswich CBD fringe in the picturesque grounds of USQ campus. One of UQ Health Care's flagship clinics, this medical centre will soon undergo an exciting expansion.

Historic Ipswich is only 40 minutes west of Brisbane and a blossoming city in its own right, attracting a growing population drawn to the lifestyle, location, infrastructure and sub-tropical climate. The booming population is increasing at twice the rate of the rest of Queensland sitting at 180,000 residents and growing.

Working as a GP with BMC means you have access to:

- collegiate support from UQHC's team of GPs, many with academic titles with UQ
- a diverse range of patients and clinical services, and
- wonderful support from our fantastic nursing and reception staff.

The right applicant could harness this opportunity to build their practice and patient base; or develop areas of special interest, such as chronic disease management, integrated care, or skin.

We offer a range of remuneration options, including a percentage billings contract or salary. As UQHC is not-for-profit, you can also access attractive salary sacrificing arrangements. 19AB exemption via academic appointment is available to appropriate candidates.

Who is UQ Health Care?

UQHC is a not-for-profit 100% owned by the University of Queensland (UQ). UQHC operates multidisciplinary primary health care centres dedicated to providing compassionate care and service, and the highest quality, integrated, multi-disciplinary healthcare.

UQHC offers great opportunities to help you build advance your career whilst helping us to deliver on our vision and mission:

Our Vision

To be the partner of choice in creating the future of healthcare.

Our Mission

Creating healthier communities by providing the best care to every patient through integrated healthcare, education and research.

Our links to the UQ Faculty of Medicine and Faculty of Health and Behavioural Sciences provides opportunities for GPs to pursue teaching and research interests and connect with our professional development program. This is supported by access to UQ Library resources.

In addition to standard general practice services, our suite of innovative programs and expanding operations, grants you the opportunity to develop skills and experience not widely available in other practices, such as:

- Our Homeless Service plays a vital role in coordinating care delivery to this most vulnerable of populations, partnering with multiple stakeholders;

- The Continence Clinic is a collaboration with Ipswich Hospital, consisting of a multidisciplinary team led by a specialist geriatrician;
- The GPs in Secondary Schools Project is designed to make primary health care more accessible to students. In collaboration with Children's Health Queensland, UQHC GPs provide medical advice and health care to those students most in need, to help young people to identify and address health problems early.
- UQ Healthy Living is a state-of-the-art facility with world-leading strength, aerobic and rehabilitation equipment promoting healthy ageing and wellbeing in older adults through access to a range of health disciplines. Drawing upon the latest global research, it is a focal point for researchers across UQ working to address the challenge of an ageing population and support our 50+ communities to live well.

For more information visit uqhealthcare.org.au or contact Kirsty Embury (Practice Manager) k.embury@uqhealthcare.org.au

